me: no, stop being stupid, I've recruited people from that very long just now Karen: When you call people a faggot YOU look stupid. me: you are not qualified to assess what I'm doing me: Go look at what's happening me: http://www.dailykos.com/story/2011/1/18/937219/-Lets-help-Tunisia-achieve-liberty Karen: I know that you make a fool of yourself when you blog like this. YOu said the other day that you weren't going to blog anymore.
me: sweetheart
me: seriously me: you don't know what you're talking about.
Karen: I read all that. But you should just stick to that -- not arguing with people on sites where you are becoming a punchline.
me: I'm not becoming a punchline, go read the comments me: they let me guest post there now me: three or four people are hard-core conservatives and don't like me me: the others used to be my enemies but now admire me Karen: You sound grandiose -- stop making it all about YOU. me: go read it before you bother me with hostile nonsense, please me: I'm not me: no one thinks that Karen: I am not being hostile. I am seriously worried that you are coming off as unbalanced and someone not to be taken seriously. me: no one else thinks that me: my stuff is being sent around by Hastings and Eisler and others at this very moment me: and I'm working directly with a large number of Tunisians me: you are misreading the situation Karen: Stop making it all about YOU me: you are talking about me me: I'm responding me: other people talk about me me: sometimes I respod me: you have not followed this closely enoguh to assess it, please knock it off me: you are too busy arguing with me to stop and tihnk if you're wrong Karen: No, I mean in the BLOGS don't make it all about you.

me: I'm not me: only you and a couple of my conservative enemies even claim that Karen: I'm telling you that you have to be careful not to sound grandiose. me: that blog discusses me, mom me: they write posts about me me: they've done so for a long time me: just stop, okay?
Karen: You need to answer in a more measure tone and not use words like faggot. me: I usually do me: but I've called people faggots dozens of time on the net and very few object me: I do so for a reason me: I'm very good at what I do me: and what I do includes this stuff Karen: And the reason is.... to sound like a 7th grader? me: and you need to start understanding that me: everyone else does me: and they see even more of my work than you do Karen: Everyone else doesn't know that you are not paying your own bills, that you have paying assignments just waiting to be done -- like Skeptical Enquirer. me: we've gone through this several times in the last couple weeks, please see our prior chats me: mom, I'm working on an op-ed for al0-Jazeera right now me: and getting other assingments regarding this very axtivity Karen: Yeah, are they going to pay you for it? me: Yes, now please leave me along, I'm busy Karen: Please try not to sound so immature and grandiose.
me: okay
